

ICANN for Beginners Virtual Program

Interested in Universal Acceptance?

Universal Acceptance is the bridge to a fully multilingual Internet. It enables people everywhere to access and use the Internet in their own languages and scripts which is essential to bringing the next billion users online. The Internet of the future is fully multilingual. Universal Acceptance is the bridge that gets us there.

Ready to learn more about Universal Acceptance and how you can help make it happen?

Great, then check out the latest webinar of the ICANN for Beginners Virtual Program!

What is it all about?

The ICANN for Beginners Virtual Program is a series of 60-minute webinars, each focusing on a specific topic geared specifically towards people interested in the Internet and Internet governance. Our webinars are engaging and interactive and require no prior technical or governance experience.

For our upcoming webinar, ICANN for Beginners: Universal Acceptance, moderators will introduce you to the basics of Universal Acceptance, why it matters, and ICANN's role in all of that. Plus, we won't just explain the importance of UA, but also why it matters to you specifically and how you can join the global community to help achieve a truly global and multilingual Internet.

What do I need to do?

Participating is easy and free. All you need is access to the Internet and 60 minutes to join the webinar. There will be two sessions so choose the one that works for you!
